

Two Confess Plotting Boy's Slaying Before Abduction

Hall Admits Firing Fatal Shot; Grave Dug Even Before Act

U.S. Re-enters Case Under Lindbergh Law

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Dope addict Carl Austin Hall and his alcoholic woman friend confessed Monday they plotted 6-year-old Bobby Greenlee's slaying even before he was kidnapped.

The government immediately stepped back into the case under the Lindbergh kidnapping law.

Young Confessed Slayer Must Face Trial in Court

McLain Still Being Questioned At Undisclosed County Jail

RUSHVILLE—Legal developments in the Karen Talbot case will probably remain at a standstill until District Court convenes here March 2.

Duane McLain, 19-year-old Rushville youth who confessed slaying 13-year-old Karen on Aug. 20 when she refused to kiss him, has pleaded guilty in a County Court arraignment to first degree murder.

But he still must face a District Court jury, which under Nebraska law will decide whether the penalty in a first degree murder charge is to be the electric chair or life imprisonment.

The next jury trial at Rushville is scheduled for March 2, 1954. Judge E. L. Meyer of Alliance presiding.

In the meanwhile, Sheridan Co. Atty. John Kerlakesdes said that McLain is being questioned at an undisclosed county jail away from Rushville.

THE YOUTH does not yet have an attorney, but Kerlakesdes said "He will definitely be represented."

McLain's family may secure counsel for the boy or the county may appoint an attorney to represent him, the county attorney explained.

A possible request for a change of venue in the case, on grounds that passion is allegedly so high it would be impossible for the defendant to stand trial, has been turned to the discretion of the district judge, Kerlakesdes said.

McLain will be held in custody until his trial, since first degree murder is not an offense for which bond can be given.

RUSHVILLE TRIED to resume normal life, the United Press said. There was an uneasy gloom over the community. Funeral services for Karen were delayed pending word from a brother, Jimmie, with the Marines in Japan.

At the Presbyterian Church, where Karen was active in youth groups, the Rev. J. R. Strong urged citizens to "temper judgment with mercy and consideration" in the case. He said that, "As Christians, it is not only our obligation but our opportunity to sustain these families in their hour of crisis."

Duane's grandmother, Mrs. Roy Burki, 65, was grief-stricken and near collapse. He lived with his grandparents and spent much of his time alone on their ranch where Karen's body was found.

She fought back the tears as she sat in her darkened sitting room and told how Duane had "lived with us since he was 5. His father and mother were separated and his mother left him. He had no place to come except to Grandma's."

"I know something must have happened," she said. "He just became sick and blacked out. Then she told of Duane's engagement to a high school senior in nearby Gordon. They were to marry as soon as she was graduated." Mrs. Burki said. His father is dead and his mother lives in Oregon. The Burkis said they would "stand by" Duane and do what they could for him.

"WE ALWAYS thought Duane was a nice boy," the Associated Press quoted Mrs. Lloyd Talbot, mother of the slain girl. "He was always cheerful and courteous. Karen was not his girl friend but she knew him as well as all children knew each other."

Karen's father, a rancher, said only "I feel sorry for his grandparents that the tragedy had to happen."

Others who knew Duane were puzzled also.

The 34-year-old Hall, a ne'er-do-well son of a respected Kansas family, and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41, signed statements saying they took little Bobby across the state line into Kansas where Hall killed him shortly after the kidnapping in Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 28.

THEIR CONFESSIONS were announced by the FBI, which said the two kidnapers admitted digging the boy's grave behind Mrs. Heady's home in St. Joseph, Mo., before the kidnapping.

Thus the couple plotted the little boy's death even before the kidnapping took place. The FBI disclosed the lime found over Bobby's body was bought before the abduction.

At Kansas City, federal kidnapping charges were filed before U.S. Commissioner C. H. Thompson. Two state charges are pending against the couple, one for murder at St. Joseph and the other for kidnapping at Kansas City.

The opinion here was that the federal government would retain jurisdiction and put the couple on federal trial at Kansas City.

EDWARD SCHEUFEL, U.S. district attorney at Kansas City, said the fact that the kidnapping occurred in Missouri qualifies Kansas City as the trial site for the couple.

He said the couple would be returned there from St. Louis as quickly as possible for hearing.

After their confessions both Hall and Mrs. Heady remained outwardly calm at the city jail where they are held now under bonds of $100,000 each on federal extortion charges.

Jail officials said Hall remained sullen.

THE FBI SAID it has been determined that the boy, abducted from an exclusive private Catholic school, had been killed about 12 miles from Kansas City across the state line.

As a result the Lindbergh law applies. It carries a possible death penalty when the victim is harmed.

Hall absolved Tom Marsh, 37, the tattooed ex-convict and sex offender in his new confession. He had been named by Hall as the killer of the boy soon after Hall's and Mrs. Heady's arrest here last Tuesday night.

The FBI said a mechanical pencil of a type known to have been in little Bobby's possession at the time of his abduction was found at the murder site.

The boy's 71-year-old multimillionaire father, Robert Greenlee, paid a $500,000 ransom in an effort to get his boy back.

THE PIVOTAL POINT leading to the new confession appeared to hinge on a .38 caliber gun found on Hall when he was arrested here in a swanky apartment rented for him by a taxicab driver, who later became suspicious because of Hall's spending spree and tipped off police.

The gun was turned over to the FBI by St. Louis Police Chief Jeremiah O'Connell. Ballistic tests in Washington showed slugs fired from the station wagon of the couple were fired from the weapon.

The station wagon was found abandoned in Kansas City soon after the arrest of the pair here. When arrested here Hall had more than $295,000 in two suitcases in his apartment. He said he couldn't remember what had happened to the rest of it because he had been on a drinking spree.

BUT THE FBI has indicated Hall had given its agents additional information about the missing ransom money. They would not hope to recover the money until it was recovered.

Both Hall and Mrs. Heady at first insisted she was an innocent pawn in the kidnapping. Hall claimed that she abducted the boy from a private Catholic school the morning of Sept. 28 by posing as the boy's aunt on the belief Bobby was his son, in the custody of a former wife.

The station wagon, the FBI said, had blood stains.

WHEN CONFRONTED with the new evidence Hall and Mrs. Heady broke down and told what had happened.

Joseph Thornton, FBI agent in charge at St. Louis, said he didn't know how the slugs had been fired into the station wagon nor whether the boy actually was killed in it.

Mrs. Heady at first claimed she was so drunk at the time the ransom money was dropped over a bridge near Kansas City by a representative of Greenlee that she didn't even remember anything about it.

Hall is at the St. Louis city jail. He is under guard day and night and is kept away from other prisoners for his own safety.

Mrs. Heady is confined in another part of the jail in a large room with four other woman prisoners. A spotlight is played on her bed, in the center of the room, throughout the nights so that she might be kept under constant observation.

U.S. to Use Greek Air, Navy Bases

Formal Agreement Signed in Athens

WASHINGTON (AP)—Greece has given the United States permission to use an undisclosed number of Greek air and naval bases to bolster North Atlantic Pact defenses.

A formal agreement, specifying the terms under which the facilities will be used, was signed in Athens by American Ambassador Cavendish Cannon and Greek officials, the State Department announced.

The agreement did not specify the location and number of Greek air and naval bases which can be used by American forces.

The right to use them will last as long as the 14-nation Atlantic Pact is in effect—until 1969.

Quarterbacks Send Note in Fine NU Play

University Club Quarterbacks voted upon motion by Col. Frank Eager Monday noon to express their appreciation by letter to the Husker grid squad for its fine play against the Pitt Panthers last Saturday.

The smallest turnout of the season was on hand to hear Coach Bill Glassford and Al Parlin, the latter reporting on the Miami Hurricanes.

Chief interest of the group was the officials' decision that gave the Panthers the ball when it had apparently been recovered by Guard Max Kitzelman.

"Three of the officials, including the referee, said it was our ball but there was nothing they could do about it when the field judge asserted that he had 'blown' the ball dead," Glassford said.

Glassford stated that he felt the club showed improvement on defense and pass defense but that fumbles and mistakes cost his Huskers their chances of victory.

Lost Scout Sought In Rugged Mountains

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Sheriff's deputies, rangers and volunteers combed the rugged canyons of the Catalina Mountains 34 miles northeast of Tucson for Augustin Acuna, 18, lost since noon Sunday while taking a test in Boy Scout tracking.

"I never should have let him go on that hike," Mrs. Georgina Acuna, the boy's mother, said tearfully as she awaited word from the searchers.

Reds Ready For Interviews With POWs

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Communists indicated they are ready to start interviews on Wednesday for North Korean and Chinese war prisoners who are to return home and the U.N. Repatriation Commission took steps to get the delay-plagued explanations under way.

The development came amid charges by the U.N. command that the Reds had shipped captured combat aircraft into North Korea in violation of the armistice terms.

UNC spokesman said an "urgent request" for investigation had been handed the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission, the four-nation body charged with policing the truce.

However, at the same time, Gen. John H. Hill, new U.N. commander in this troubled spot, told newsmen he knew of "no serious" violations of the armistice by the Communists.

Accident Victim Treated, Released

Mrs. Shirley E. Rausch, 22, of 2345 So. 34th, was released from Lincoln General Hospital after treatment for cuts she received in a two-car collision Sunday night.

Police said she was riding in a car driven by Donald F. Rausch, 22, also of 2345 So. 34th, a student, which was in collision with one driven by Dean C. Panagiotis, 16, of 2935 S. an office worker.

Police said the Rausch car was traveling south on 27th, the Panagiotis car east on Summer, when they collided. The Rausch car rolled onto its side.

High Court To Review 'Giveaways'

Networks Oppose Appeal Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court has agreed to review government efforts to ban radio and television giveaway shows.

The Federal Communications Commission appealed to the high tribunal after a special three-judge federal court in New York said the ban should apply only where contestants were (A) required to furnish money or anything of value, or (B) have in their possession a sponsor's product.

The special court knocked out a commission ban on program schemes which directly or indirectly require audiences to listen to shows as a condition of being eligible to win prizes.

The commission rules were intended to enforce a federal law which forbids the broadcast of lotteries and similar schemes. Stations which do not comply would be denied renewal of their licenses. But the ban was held in abeyance pending final Supreme Court action on the FCC appeal.

National Broadcasting Co., Columbia Broadcasting System, and American Broadcasting Co. opposed a Supreme Court review of the case.

The court's decision to call for arguments was announced in a routine list of "on" 200 orders handed down by Chief Justice Earl Warren.

In its appeal of the case, the FCC argued:

"The person who is induced to listen by the hope of prizes is conferring a real benefit upon the station and the sponsor. And in the long run, the radio audience as a whole pays for the prizes given away and more besides through purchases of the sponsored goods."

THE BRITISH-AMERICAN announcement that they would turn over Zone A to the Italians had touched off violent riots in Belgrade earlier, during which the British and American embassies, their information offices and the Italian legation were stoned and their windows smashed.

Yugoslav radio near the Trieste and Italian borders were reported clogged with soldiers. There was no indication from London or Washington of any change in the British-American plans, announced last week, to withdraw their 1,000 occupation troops from Zone A, including the port of Trieste—and turn the sector over to Italy.

The U.S. troopship Geiger docked in Trieste Monday to take the first load of American families out of the disputed Trieste territory.

American and British troops were packing up and diplomats in London and Washington said the evacuation would take six weeks.

At United Nations headquarters in New York, a Yugoslav spokesman said ambassador Vladimir Popovic, his nation's envoy to Washington, planned to confer Monday with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

TRIESTE WAS Austrian before World War I and Italian after but was split into the two occupation zones at the end of World War II. The Italian peace treaty designated it a free territory under an international administration but Russia and the Western Big Three have never been able to agree on a governor.

Mob Attacks U.S. Official in Belgrade

Yugoslav President Has Warning; Allies Continue Withdrawal Plans

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Yugoslavia has demanded conference with the United States, Britain and Italy to discuss last week's British-American decision on the future of Trieste. Yugoslavia also sent a protest to the United Nations secretary general on the decision to withdraw British and American occupation troops from Zone A of the Trieste territory and turn it over to Italian administration.

One note called upon the United Nations to help settle the bitter Yugoslav-Italian feud over Trieste and the other said the proposed four-power conference was "urgent" because there would be no point in having it after Italy takes over Zone A. The note to the United Nations addressed to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, said it would consider movement of Italian troops into Zone A "an act of aggression" and asked that all members of the United Nations be informed of Yugoslavia's position.

In Washington, the United States made it clear it will stick by the decision despite Yugoslavia's bitter protest.

YUGOSLAVIA'S NEW demands and protest were made against a background of increasing anti-American and anti-British feeling in Belgrade. In the latest outburst an angry mob attacked a U.S. diplomatic official and smashed his nose.

A U.S. protest against the attack evoked a reply that Yugoslavia could not guarantee the safety of the 200 Americans living in Belgrade.

The mob invaded the reading room of the U.S. Information Service headquarters and assaulted William King, its director.

The mob also surged into the British reading room but Keith Welbore-Kerr, the British first secretary, said no one was injured there.

The crowd was apparently stirred by President Tito's speech in Skopje Sunday in which he was marching into Trieste with "at the moment" Italian occupation forces entered. Military leaves were cancelled for all Yugoslav troops but British and American soldiers continued preparations to withdraw from Zone A.

Report from London said the United States, Britain and France "apparently shocked by the bitterness of the Yugoslav reaction"—were consulting urgently through diplomatic channels over the Yugoslav threat. Diplomatic informants said one idea up for discussion is a conference of Yugoslav, Italian, American, British and French representatives soon to insure that peace is maintained.

Yugoslavia's note for a conference declared the British-American "decision concerning Trieste" "incompatible with the maintenance of international peace and security, should be carried into effect."

The person who is induced to listen by the hope of prizes is conferring a real benefit upon the station and the sponsor. And in the long run, the radio audience as a whole pays for the prizes given away and more besides through purchases of the sponsored goods."

THE MINNESOTA State Grange said neither approach will solve the farm problem. Grange Master William Pearson urged a "two-price" system to help recapture shrinking foreign markets for wheat.

First-day testimony failed to turn up any unanimous sentiment on Benson's views. His thoughts on price supports were denounced and applauded at the hearing.

The Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation backed Benson's attack on the present program of rigid high supports for basic crops. The Minnesota Farmers' Union said high supports must be continued.

The Minnesota State Grange said neither approach will solve the farm problem. Grange Master William Pearson urged a "two-price" system to help recapture shrinking foreign markets for wheat.

With Farm Prices down sharply, GOP leaders are worried about the farm vote in next year's congressional elections.

The Minnesota Farmers Union, a persistent Benson critic, charged that Benson had failed to act "aggressively" in halting the farm price decline.

In a statement prepared for the committee, Edwin Christenson, State Farmers Union president, reiterated the group's stand in favor of higher—instead of lower—price supports.

Another blow at Benson's views came from the state Republican Farm Council. It passed a resolution Sunday calling for continuance of basic crop price supports at a minimum of 90 percent of parity. Mandatory proposals at this level expire Dec. 31, 1954. The next Congress will write new farm legislation—with farmers' views in mind.

THE COMMITTEE set out with the hope that farmers can recommend a solution for the dairy problem. The government has accumulated $580 million worth of butter, cheese and dried milk under the price support program. That's more than was sold last year by all the farmers in Minnesota, the nation's fifth biggest dairy state.

Benson hasn't said what legislation he will recommend to replace the expiring "rigid" price supports for dairy crops. But he has spoken out against fixing of support prices on the basis of "political" considerations. He wants a "free market" with less government controls over pricing and production. His goal is a program requiring "minimum and maximum price supports."

Dairymen Score Milk Regulation

Ag Committee Begins Hearings

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A group of Midwest dairymen told Congress "maladministration" of the federal milk program is forcing millions of city consumers to pay too much for milk.

The group's spokesman, J. M. Punderson, general manager of a Rochester Minn. co-operative, demanded that Congress halt the "maladministration." He said he represented Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa dairy groups.

He testified as the House Agriculture Committee put Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson's farm views on political trial. The committee, which devised the rigid high farm supports which Benson has criticized, wanted to know if farmers are more interested in freedom than security, as Benson believes.

FUNDERSO said high prices of milk fixed by the government in federal-regulated markets, such as New York City, hurts the Midwest dairy man as well as the city consumer.

He said the high prices encourage surplus milk production by dairymen producing for those markets. This surplus spills over into production of butter and cheese, he said.

The result has been that Midwest farmers—whose milk goes largely into butter, cheese and other manufactured goods—have lost markets.

IT ALSO is partly responsible for the government accumulation of surplus butter and cheese, he said.

Ammo Truck Convoys Planned

Lincoln Hopes to Avert Omaha Type of Accident

Trucks carrying ammunition and explosives will be conveyed by police through Lincoln according to a plan discussed by Mayor Clark J. J. Carroll and Police Chief Joe Carroll and Police Capt. Willis Manchester. The plan is to be put into ordinance form and, if satisfactory to the City Council, introduced and probably passed at the regular Tuesday meeting.

Although inspired by the recent Omaha tragedy, the present and former councils have discussed from time to time this type of carrier.

"We are agreed," said Mayor Carroll, "the convoy plan is the only practical plan with arrangements to be made for each trip at points of entry at or near the city limits on all sides."

THE PROPOSAL calls for licensing by trip of trucks carrying ammunition and explosives, a fee of $5 to be paid the city clerk. The driver may take out as many licenses at one time as he desires. While it gives him the privilege of passing through the city there is to be protective and restrictive conditions.

When he reaches the point of entry, the driver will call the police department and ask for a convoy. This Carroll said will arrive in not to exceed 10 to 15 minutes. The driver cannot move over the city streets without such a convoy.

The route will be established by the police. For each trip according to traffic conditions at the time. The convoy will conduct the truck through the city.

FEARY HAS said asked City Attorney John Comstock to prepare the ordinance. The ordinance will carry the usual penalty of a fine up to $100 for violation.

The mayor assumes, he said, that much of the ammunition will come from the Mead plant at Kearney en route to points south and into Kansas, according to tentative plan and subject to council approval, will be located as follows:

From the north: One of the service stations on Highway 77 in the Havelock vicinity.

From the west: Service station at west edge.

From the east: Corner and O.

From south: Service station near penitentiary.

Ammo Truck Ban Believed Illegal

HASTINGS (AP)—Municipalities which seek to rule ammunition trucks off their streets may find themselves in conflict with Interstate Commerce regulations, in the opinion of A. P. Madgett, Hastings city attorney.

Hastings has long been confronted with the problem of ammunition trucks since the Naval Ammunition Depot is located nearby.

The Hastings city attorney said it is his opinion and he has had some support for it, that the present Hastings ordinance includes about all a city can do with regard to ammunition trucks.

This ordinance makes it unlawful to store any kind of explosives in the city but provides for transportation through the city. It provides that the police must be notified 30 minutes before the contemplated transit, that the police are authorized to

Briton Says Ike May Be 'Disastrous'

LONDON (AP)—A columnist for the Daily Mirror, Britain's most widely read daily newspaper, has declared Dwight Eisenhower "may yet rank with Harding and Coolidge as one of the most disastrous presidents of the United States."

Columnist William Neil Connor said more and more Americans are asking themselves, "is he just an amiable bungler?"

Connor said:

"The record of his first 250 days as President is a mixture of hesitancy, expedience, golf, political vacuity, holiday making and that misplaced and frightening bonhomie that people sometimes show when they are trying to please everybody everywhere at the same time."

Goodwill is an estimable virtue, but when it manifests itself in an aimless clubbiness in the person of the most powerful and responsible individual in the United States it may be catastrophic.

"You just can't tell who the man is trying to satisfy next."

"President Eisenhower's latest statement trying to clear up the confusion and near-panic over the progress of Soviet atomic weapons was a floodlight that cast its glare backwards into the chaos and confusion of his own administration."

"One explanation is that he is afraid to take control. The other is that he is just plain lazy and it is this second theory that is arousing comment here in the United States."

WATCH YOUR TALK!

CHICAGO (Special)—A noted publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique of everyday conversation which can pay you real dividends in both social and business advancement and works like magic to give you added poise, self confidence and greater popularity.

According to this publisher many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by what they say and how they say it. Whether in business, at social functions, or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances, there are ways in which you can make a good impression every time you talk.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in everyday conversation, the publishers have printed full details of their interesting self training method in a 24-page booklet, "Adventures in Conversation" which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation whatsoever. Simply send your request to Conversation Studies, 835 Diversey Parkway, Dept. 8307, Chicago 14, Ill. A postcard will do.

In PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS

By J. GORDON ROBERTS

"What are the normal functions of government?" asks Frank Chodorov, in addressing the School of Living recently.

"The trend in public affairs during this twentieth century is toward collectivism."

"During the nineteenth century, give or take a decade or two, the opposite ideal held high. The axiom of the American Declaration of Independence in 1776, or the French Declaration of 1789 was that the unit and cause of society was the individual that without him there could be no society and therefore no government. It was unthinkable in those days that the political organization of society could be considered as the guardian angel, the father and mother of the individual.

The premise of all public affairs during that century was that the government was merely an instrument created by men to serve their purposes, and as a servant it took its orders and received its sustenance from the citizens. It had no powers no privileges, no prerogatives other than those specifically granted it by the citizenry. It was a flunkier taking orders from its sovereign employers.

"The current trend of thought is in fact a reversion to the 'divine right' theory of government that held sway during the Middle Ages. The drive is toward absolutism although, to be sure, to make the transition easy, its apostles carry the still popular banners of 'democracy', 'freedom' and 'human rights'. The fact is, no matter how it is camouflaged, the present generation is inclined toward the thought that the State is not only an instrument for public good, but that it is the only instrument by which man's search for happiness can prosper.

"The State, then, is something above the individual, something more than a collectivity, with a conscience of its own, a morality independent of the morality of individuals, and a capacity that is greater than the sum total of capacities of the people over whom it rules. Moreover, it enjoys immortality, since the State continues even while the citizens pass on.

"Between these two frames of thought there can be no compromise, since the basic axioms are in opposition. As in all philosophic differences, the first premise really determines the validity of the ensuing logic, and the individualist cannot find a common ground with the Statist simply because there is none."

'Wartime' Hydrogen Bomb Status Asked

Chairman of Atomic Energy Unit Says U.S. Effort Not Big Enough

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.) said the United States should assign wartime urgency to its hydrogen bomb program because, he said, Russia may shortly have "hundreds or even thousands" of H-bombs.

Cole, chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said the Soviets "exploded a hydrogen weapon" two months ago, and he declared:

"If our own hydrogen effort falters, as it must not and need not. The Soviets have it within their capacity to outstrip us — and outstrip us decisively—within a relatively short period of time."

HERE IS THE stark arithmetic of the matter. Seven years elapsed between Hiroshima and our own hydrogen test of last fall; four years elapsed between the first Russian A-bomb that we detected and Moscow's hydrogen test. These are not very comforting statistics.

"The Soviets have progressed with unexpected speed because they have assigned supreme and overriding priority to their project from the very outset."

NEW MOISTURE CREAM WITH HORMONES
DRAW MOISTURE FROM THE AIR
 to help Over-30 Skin look younger!

UNIQUE SATURA BY DOROTHY GRAY

From the famous laboratories of Dorothy Gray comes a unique moisture cream with hormones . . . that supplies aging, drying skin with beauty-bringing moisture. New SATURA, by Dorothy Gray, performs these 3 vital functions to help bring fresh, moist radiance to over-30 skin:

1. SATURA attracts and holds airborne moisture on your skin, to help protect against drying that can lead to lines and wrinkles.
2. SATURA helps make up for the moisture that is lost by the skin so quickly in our climates . . . winter and summer.
3. SATURA helps maintain the skin's inner moisture. Its natural estrogenic hormones—10,000 I U's per ounce—help renew this vital internal moisture, thus "plumping up" your skin to help make wrinkles appear less conspicuous.

Any over-30 complexion, be it dry, oily or normal, is bound to look younger with the 3 essential SATURA provisions: renewal of external and internal moisture, plus the smoothing action of rich emollients.

Tot Hanged as Cap Catches on Fence

HOWARD, S. D. (AP) — A 15-month-old boy was hanged on a barbed-wire fence near here while playing in the yard at the family's home with three older brothers.

Denny Lee Hillman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hillman, who farm southwest of Winfred and 12 miles from here, died of strangulation before he could be rushed to a doctor.

Authorities said the child was wearing a cap which caught on the barbed-wire fence as the child ran under it. It jerked him off his feet and left him hanging.

are likely to endorse his call for a big step up in the U.S. atomic effort. Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Ia), vice chairman of Cole's committee, said in Washington over the week end that the program "is going along very vigorously and I am not prepared to say we should pyramid it."

He urged "a hydrogen effort comparable in scale, dollars, resources, daring and speed to our entire atomic effort of World War II."

Cole said that "perhaps the most ominous point of all" about the Soviet H-bomb test is this:

"It more and more appears that the harnessing of hydrogen energy for military uses may be far easier than was commonly supposed a few years ago."

Speaker Urges Radio 'Hams' Be Permitted Self Regulation

Complete self-regulation by amateur radio operators and improved standards of federal regulation of commercial radio are two of the basic needs of American communications.

This was urged by Paul M. Segal, general counsel of the American Radio Relay League, in his speech at a banquet closing the convention of the Midwest Radio Relay League in Lincoln, Neb., last night.

Segal urged complete freedom from regulations for the amateur operators, since, he said, they are "engaged in communication . . . without . . . thought of financial gain." These operators, he said, naturally work "in community for the common good."

Turnpike Phantom Suspect Captured

New Mexico Police Arrest Wable, Two Companions for Holdup

ALBUQUERQUE—John Wesley Wable, 24, was arrested on a Pennsylvania warrant charging him with the "Phantom of the Turnpike" murders after a 20-mile chase by New Mexico state police. Wable, described as "highly dangerous," told a reporter a few hours after his capture as he lay in a small, dark cell in the Bernalillo County Jail.

"I'm not guilty. I don't know anything about the murders. I'm just cold and tired."

But only a while before, he had led state police a high-speed automobile chase and then escaped on foot after two companions "who I picked up in California" were captured.

WABLE FINALLY was surrounded when a Belen nurse, Caroline Smith, spotted him hitchhiking on the outskirts of Belen. He gave up without a struggle.

Wable is accused of shooting Harry F. Pitts, 39, of Bowling Green, Va., and Lester B. Woodward, 39, of Duncannon, Pa., last July on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, a 327-mile superhighway running from the Ohio border to near Philadelphia.

The two truck drivers were shot in the head as they slept in their parked trucks. Police said they had been robbed.

Wable denied knowing anything about the foreign made pistol used in the two killings and believed to be his.

Editorial Comment and Opinion

The Pot Boils in Trieste

Not Korea, not Indo-China but the Free Territory of Trieste is the most dangerous trouble spot in the world today. The attack on an American government official by angry Yugoslavs invading his office served notice to the world that British-American plans for settling the dispute over territory would not have easy going.

How many other unpleasant facts it connoted cannot now be known, but one stands out unmistakably: the physical abuse of USIS Chief King was a deliberate statement of Yugoslav feeling, a defiance of American attempts to moderate the quarrel with Italy, and notice to Britain to keep out, too. Such an offensive, however much joy it might give its actual perpetrators, cannot safely be assumed to be a spontaneous act of a few hooligans. It is a sign of an explosive situation endangering such peace as the world now enjoys. And it estops the achievement of a state of internationalization proposed in 1948 but already doomed, since it presupposed harmony between Russia and he satellites, of which Tito's country was then one. The whole territory was ordered by the Big Three in 1948 to be returned to Italy—but three months later came the unexpected event that changed everything: Tito's break with the Cominform.

In the light of that event—from which it now appears the free world took too much encouragement—it seemed so important to encourage other satellite leaders to follow Tito's example that the West simply could not go through with the arrangement. This frustration, affecting all parties, created the hopeless situation still prevailing. Rome accused Washington of breaking a solemn promise; Tito was disaffected by the Western position that the two states should proceed to settle their dispute alone. That position has always been anathema to the Italians, who couldn't conceive of giving up the ethnically Italian ports and towns of the peninsula. Then came the plan for dividing Trieste, Italy taking the city and its environs, Yugoslavia continuing to occupy and administer Zone B, comprising all the rest of Trieste.

This course, constituting a partial victory for Italy, implying withdrawal of British and American occupation troops, seems now to be doomed. Admittedly in violation of an Allied pledge of 1948, it was taken reluctantly as "the only practicable method of breaking the impasse," the State Department said Saturday. Tito had agreed last spring. Today that is all water over the dam. The situation is full of dynamite.

A MOMENT'S THOUGHT

Psalms 133: 1
Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity.
—Selected by Rev. Raymond L. Alber, East Lincoln Christian Church

Not Selling U.N. Short

Out of the disappointments in Korea, principally, has come such a spate of suggestions for the improvement, or alternatively the abolition of the United Nations, that this great experiment seemed as much in danger of being sold short as it had undoubtedly been oversold in its beginning. The disappointments were very real, they still prevail, nobody knows how or whether anything much can be salvaged from them. Yet as the members of its constituent bodies learn by experience how to cope with inherent difficulties, and as unexpected testimonies to the regard awarded it outside the country of its genesis began to show up here and there, the clouds seem to thin a bit around the edges.

Since nobody but an American could make sweeping statements that the American public would accept at face value, the American ambassador to U.N., Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. was approached. He gave these answers to questions put by Newsweek:

Exaggerated claims for U.N.'s powers led inevitably to disappointments. It contains no panacea, is not equipped to bring in the millennium over night. Yet it has solid achievements to its credit—helping to check Russian aggression in Azerbaijan in 1946, to bring in the independence of Indonesia and of Israel, to check Red aggression in Greece, to stop the fighting between India and Pakistan over Kashmir and to set up a truce, such as it is, in Korea.

Recipe for Safer Traffic

The 50th anniversary of the Wright brothers' first powered flight has been the occasion for many and varied predictions, none more striking than that of Maj. Alexander de Seversky, no mean flier himself, and an inventor and air strategist as well. Within another half century, he ventures to say, the skies will be black with helicopters while automobile will be as rare as horses are today.

This certainly rates a place in the "important if true" file, implying so many things as it does. First, it seems to assume that whirlbirds are as easy to drive as cars; second, that they could be made cheaply enough for the average family to maintain. Finally, it might provide much safer transportation than today's motor traffic. This of course calls for a bit of planning, and for careful "driving," even though the air is much more spacious than all the streets and highways combined. Yet because the helicopter can take off and sit down on a half dollar, virtually, the problem of collisions ought not to be insoluble. Levels would have to be assigned for flights of various lengths, landing places provided—many would be on roofs already existent, no doubt—and traffic controls devised.

Collisions of heavy aircraft aren't unknown now, nor accidents at take-offs and landings at appointed places. Freight service would have to be systematized in the beginning and countless other procedures revamped. There seems nothing involved that human ingenuity can't at least make a dent in, and Seversky might easily live long enough to see himself justified. It's a thought, anyway.

Big Job for a Bank

The new Iran is making vigorous motions as of a big oil firm eager to get back into business. The huge business Mossadegh undertook to nationalize and succeeded in destroying seems about to be revived under the Shah, whose vice premier said publicly the other day that he hoped for effective steps to get the oil running again. This unusual frankness was seen as a preparation for some compromise with the British. London and Washington are reviewing every proposal made since Mossadegh's coup, and Herbert Hoover Jr., is expected to take a new plan to Teheran in person, perhaps for the World Bank to run the business for a couple of years, impounding some of the proceeds for the benefit of Anglo-Iranian. Mr. Hoover is the State Department's new oil consultant.

Malenkov's Tidying Up Policy

One expert observer has quipped that Georgi M. Malenkov really ought to be called "Warren G. Malenkov." The little joke has a certain significance. For it tells a good deal about the conclusions which Western experts on the Soviet Union have been reaching, in the seven months since the death of Joseph V. Stalin.

Stewart Alsop

Their first conclusion is that there is no evidence whatsoever of the much-advertised and long-anticipated "convulsion in the Kremlin," which was supposed to happen after Stalin died.

When Lavrenti Beria was purged, the beginning of the convulsion was jubilantly hailed in Washington. Yet the available evidence now clearly suggests that Malenkov's primacy is firmly established.

Moreover, far from presiding over an immense internal convulsion, Malenkov seems to be an apostle of "back to normalcy"—for what passes for "normalcy" in the Soviet slave state.

"Malenkov's policy," one Washington observer has remarked, "is a policy of tidying up—he's cleaning up the messes the old man left on the carpet." The last years of Stalin's one-man rule increasingly reflected the aging dictator's taste for violence. These characteristics caused Stalin to make "messes on the carpet," both internally and externally.

INTERNALLY, FOR EXAMPLE, police

cision to bring the power of the secret police under control.

This careful and controlled reduction in police oppression is accompanied by other moves calculated to buttress the regime and its base. Stalin's hate-the-peasant policy is being reversed, and the threadbare workers are being promised a slightly increased share of Soviet production.

EXTERNALLY, MALENKOV is also moving to tidy up certain messes which he inherited from Stalin. The Korean war, growing in power, waits patiently for the disintegration of a weakened West.

The exploitation of the satellites had been over-greedy, and had reached the point of diminishing returns, economically and politically. Malenkov's policy is to get rid of the wholly unnecessary external liabilities which Stalin's policy created.

All the experts now agree that Malenkov's tidying-up process represents no basic change in Soviet policy. The change is only in method.

MALENKOV MEANS to make the slave state function more efficiently, by giving the slaves a little more incentive to produce and he means to avoid both a showdown and a settlement, while the Soviet Union, growing in power, waits patiently for the disintegration of a weakened West.

If this analysis is correct, the hope of an encircling post-Stalin convulsion in the Soviet Union, long fondly entertained in Washington, must now be abandoned.

They Admit It

MORE OR LESS PERSONAL

—A Chat with the EDITOR—

The other day following an editorial critical of present-day trends in education which some call "progressive," the superintendent of the McCook City schools, Dr. Ralph G. Brooks, sent me by way of reply this year's "Pre-School Bulletin" which his office gave out at the opening of the school year to the teaching staff of the McCook schools. It is an amazing document.

The booklet is marked for my attention at a passage referring to critics of the American public school system.

The critics, it says, fall in three classes: "A. Those who are the implacable enemies of public education. They discredit, misinterpret and misrepresent. Their methods are subtle and insidious. They move behind others. Their favorite procedure is to have others carry out their schemes and promote their propaganda. They use organizations such as churches, taxpayers leagues, and patriotic organizations as a front. For these reasons we sometimes see our most stalwart friends arrayed against us. Their worst danger does not lie in what they themselves may do. It is the influence they exert over those who otherwise would be the friends of education."

Fools & Critics

"B. The propagandists and columnists who seek the limelight. They consider it popular to pick flaws in one of the greatest of our institutions and assume the role of the dragon slayer. They seize upon apparent weaknesses and emphasize them out of all proportion. They are sensation mongers. Their statements are misleading. Their knowledge is sketchy. Their language is glib, colorful and plausible."

"C. The natural friends of education. By background, interest and association, these people have every reason to support education. They become critics when deluded by the arch enemies of public education. Or they fall for the slogans of the architects of fabrication and jump on the critics' bandwagon and let their feet drag. So those who are ideologically our best friends sometimes become our most effectively destructive enemies."

The passage continues with the astonishing statement that "it is our mission to combat these attacks." This is astonishing, that is, to anyone who might have thought the mission of educators was to educate young people.

Nowhere does the booklet so much as acknowledge the possibility that there may be critics of education with honest motives, a valid point of view, sincerity of purpose, or who have not been "deluded."

There is an arrogance in the statement which makes you wonder what kind of citizenship is taught where such a philosophy prevails.

For criticism is inherent in the democratic processes, and public institutions—schools or what have you—cannot survive as public institutions except as their aims, their methods, their values, and everything about them, are subject to the give-and-take of public appraisal.

The booklet goes on to say that "public education, like civilization, is along with civilization, threatened by the same totalitarian tactics" that spawned a Hitler, a Mussolini and a Stalin, and that the public schools have a job to do in presenting "aggressively and convincingly the story of American Freedom."

That story won't sound very convincing so long as it embraces the notion that no American can be a "friend" of public education if he dares question what the people on the public payrolls as educators are up to.

The author of the McCook document is a little confused as to where it was that people were traitors, fools, liars, dupes or sensation mongers unless they always said "Ja." —RAYMOND A. McCONNELL JR.

Silly Blurbs

LINCOLN—It will soon be necessary for all radio stations to go on a 24 hour schedule to cope with the stream of silly blurbs telling of the wonderful quality of beer, the fanciful difference in brands, each a little different, but each the very best made. Color seems to be important. The union of two beers (color and a med) makes a "bright" beer. They do not say bright red beer but if the brewers had any sense of gratitude they would make a red beer as a memorial to the well known tint their product is supposed to give to a cooper's nose. Location and climate have a bearing although they do not say whether it is the land, the azure skies or the blue waters that gives the extra fillip to that brand. A sad voiced female "sings" of the magic making a fermented liquor with an element necessary for fermentation. If the poor anemic girl depends on her sponsor's product for her "pep" they should add starch rather than diluting. In that case the public would know whether she was singing a dirge or a hymn of praise. From dawn to midnight the drivel continues. It has been alleged the movie industry gears their product to the eight-year level. Are the brewers trying to entertain the kindergartners?

A Better Congress

LINCOLN—To get a stronger Republican Congress we are going to need the following:

1. A Korean peace in which the makers express and show a full confidence in the policy.
2. Complete policy in which the tail is not seen to wag the dog in the pursuit of general American agricultural interests.
3. A new labor law in which we promise only what we are going to enact, then enact exactly what we promised and then enforce what we enacted.
4. Full support for men in key federal positions like Chief Justice Warren, with an undoubted and matured constituency in the background of their official acts and decisions.
5. Complete and consensual non-commitment in the internal affairs of foreign countries such as Argentina, Iran, Germany and the Philippines.
6. Less hysterical and otherwise improved consideration of non-aggression proposed by our sole competing world power, Russia.
7. Better co-operation in international affairs with her majesty's government in Great Britain, regardless of any internal changes in her political complexion, in this field modern history has developed no substitute for British tact and experience.

Contest Resulted In No Decision

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A group of Southwestern cities held a contest this summer to determine which was the coolest—a very relative thing.

Phoenix, Mesa, Tucson and Yuma in Arizona, El Paso, Tex., San Santa Fe and Albuquerque, N. M., entered the contest, which consisted of watching a 100-pound block of ice melt.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce in each city was to keep tab on the melting ice, and the winner would have larger hunk remaining at the end of the day. Cam's sunbather, and the final reports were gathered. Judges considered the reports and came to the conclusion that the contest didn't prove much, except that the Jaycees had had a lot of fun.

Each city claimed the victory.

Scientists Seeking 'Doughnut' Recipe

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP)—Engineers at the University of California at Los Angeles are looking for a better recipe for "doughnuts."

These are not the kind you dunk in coffee, but tiny ceramic doughnuts—so called because of their shape—used in the memory mechanism of certain electronic computers.

They are made of black magnetic oxide of iron combined with other metallic oxides. Their function in the computers depends upon the magnetic properties of the oxides.

Formulas for making the devices now in use have not proved entirely satisfactory.

Polio Fund Loses To-Meanest Thief

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—Two girls here have a candidate for the "meanest thief" title—whoever stole $6 raised by neighborhood youngsters for the polio fund.

Rose Marie Lena, 9, and her sister, Louise, 6, sparked a drive to get cup cakes and soda and put on a show. They wound up with $11.

But, Rose Marie left her purse unguarded on a porch for a few minutes, and a thief made off with $6.

The youngsters wonder what the robber thought of their money. As Rose Marie put it: "What could be worth six dollars? Especially that six dollars."

Treatment of Multiple Sclerosis

By Dr. Walter C. Alvarez

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

In his annual review of the advances that have been made in neuropsychiatry, Professor Stanley Cobb of Harvard, recently commented on advances being made in the treatment of multiple sclerosis.

He quoted Dr. R. M. Bird, Karolush and other men in this field of work, feels that any drug which will dilate the blood vessels in the nervous system and bring in more blood is likely for a time to help patients with early multiple sclerosis.

Among the dilating drugs which have been used are histamine, amyl nitrite, papaverine, nicotinic acid, benzazoline, tetraethylammonium chloride, and carbon dioxide.

According to Cobb, the easiest and most pleasant way of dilating the vessels is to give inhalations of a mixture of 5 per cent carbon dioxide, in 95 per cent of oxygen. Dr. Bayard Horton, of the Mayo Clinic, for many years has been getting spectacular results in some cases, using histamine.

Drs. G. H. Williams, L. G. Karolush and H. I. Tucker have used tetraethylammonium chloride in 222 cases. In their group of 79 cases in which the disease was acute, 38 persons were improved, while among the 143 cases with chronic conditions, only 32 persons seemed to be helped.

Dr. R. L. Swank believes that it helps to put a patient with multiple sclerosis on a low fat diet. He treated in this way 47 patients, and reported that many seemed to be improved.

ROBERT S. ALLEN Reports

Defense Budget Deliberations

WASHINGTON—Defense Secretary Charles Wilson has had a significant change of heart regarding the Air Force.

He now favors giving it more money to speed its buildup of strength in the inner Pentagon councils, Wilson has already taken one vigorous stand to enforce his new unannounced viewpoint.

This was his rejection of a proposed military budget by the Joint Chiefs of Staff under which the Army would be given $13 billion next year as against $11 billion for the Air Force, would receive $9.8 billion. Another $700 million was asked for stockpiling, tooling, etc.

This split-vote plan was promptly rebuffed by Wilson for two reasons:

1. The proposed $35 billion budget would mean an increase of nearly $1 billion over this year's expenditures.

2. Air Force funds should be boosted and it should get a larger amount than the Army in the new budget.

In the lengthy budget deliberations of the new Joint Chiefs, Air General Nathan Twining has been adamantly insisting on an additional $1 billion over the $11 billion Congress voted the Air Force for this fiscal year. The Army received $12 billion and the Navy $8 billion.

Note: President Eisenhower was so annoyed by the Joint Chiefs' split, despite their weeks of work on the new military budget, that he summoned each of them individually to the White House for some lastly critical lecture. Each chief was closeted with the President for more than a half hour.

BACKSTAGE CLASH—The Air Force hotly contends it needs more money to expedite the urgently-needed expansion of the nation's two main defenses against atomic

The Peritoneoscope

For many years, physicians have known about a simple instrument called a peritoneoscope. It much resembles the lighted tube with which each day hundreds of urologists all over the world look into the urinary bladder of patients; and through which they operate on the tumors they happen to find.

The peritoneoscope is passed into the abdominal cavity through a little incision about as big as a small button-hole. With it an expert can examine a number of the abdominal, and particularly, pelvic organs. I know that there are limitations to the use of this instrument, but I cannot help wishing that in every big city of the land there were several men so skilled in its use that they could spend hundreds of persons from the expense and pain of a needless operation.

In a recent paper, Drs. S. J. Zoeckler, P. G. Keil, and G. J. Hegstrom, of Des Moines, reported that on examining a group of patients suspected of abdominal cancer, they were able to save half of them from a useless exploratory operation.

A New Polio Virus

Often, today, a bacteriologist or virologist takes a little blood or spinal fluid from a sick person and injects the material into a mouse. Soon he finds growing in the mouse a new germ or a new type of virus: one such as no man ever saw before.

Thus it was that a while ago the Coxsackie viruses were found in a child, who had a colic-like disease, and now Drs. Alex. Steigman and U. P. Kokko, and Miss Rosalie J. Silverberg of Kentucky have found in the spinal cord of a child who died of polio, a fourth virus, not related to the other three which are well known.

No Illusions About A and H Bomb

The air is filled with talk of an "Operation Candor" which will stand your hair on end with respect to atom and hydrogen bombs in the hands of the enemy, the theory being that Joe Doakes, the Man in the Street, isn't sufficiently scared. This department's Frisby Fozzie, eminent expert in all matters deep enough to merit his attention, favors reversing the idea and addressing Washington on behalf of Doakes. Something along this line:

"Gentlemen of the high places on the Potomac! On behalf of the average man I fear it is you who need to be talked to candidly. Where did you get the idea I am not scared? Who told you I am not worrying enough? Brother, I have been shaking for a long time. If you think I am not showing goose pimples, you are crazy."

"You are now old enough to be told the truth and given the setup, boys. I am under no illusion that the atom bomb, the hydrogen bomb, the world situation, the Russian attitude and the general picture of a world gone nuts constitute clean entertainment. I can't stay up nights, I am jittery by day. When I want the future read, I pass up fortune tellers and listen to the sounds in a concrete mixer. What scares me as much as anything are those contradictory speeches by my leaders, the evidences of snafu in government and this three-dimension picture of high authorities running around in circles."

I feel I may be in deadly peril from loose talk, cabinet leaks, fouled-up press releases, frightwig salesmen, conflicting predictions of things to come and TV press panels on which one government leader makes my teeth chatter and is followed by another who says I worry too much. I get a feeling my country could get blitzed through Pentagon confusion, politics, fuddledduddy, slow thinking and the fact so many leaders are talking at once and disagreeing so heartily.

"What scares me is that it is so hard today in an hour of danger to find any leader who looks like George Washington, talks like Abe Lincoln, acts like Paul Revere and could easily be mistaken for Admiral Farragut, John Paul Jones, Ethan Allen, Andy Jackson, Nathan Hale, Davie Crockett or Tony McAdams."

I don't say you ain't trying, boys. But you should get together. Contrary to some hints, I am not a dope, a moron or a short order of cold turkey. I know the terrible danger the free world, America, my town, my bungalow, my wife, my kids and myself are in.

Nothing confuses me but my leaders. I wish you would all pause for station identification, compare your speeches and cut out the static interference. Here's hoping!"

Idle Ranch Hand Takes Own Life

VALENTINE (AP)—A ranch hand temporarily out of work was killed instantly by a shotgun blast which a witness said was self-inflicted.

Sheriff William Freeman identified the victim as Edward Pinkston, originally from Ogalala, where his father, George Pinkston, resides.

Witness to the shooting, the sheriff said, was John C. Harding Jr., who worked at the Edson Gale ranch south of Cody.

Harding said he tried in vain to talk Pinkston out of shooting himself.

Pinkston got out of the car, but the gun's muzzle in his mouth and pushed the trigger.

RED CHINA and North Korea over the week end sought direct talks with the United States on their demand to include neutral nations in a Korean political conference—with Russia as one of the "neutrals."

This demand was rejected in August by the United Nations General Assembly which at the same time designated the United States as spokesman for the 16 nations which fought on the U.N. side in Korea.

The U.N. view is that only these 16 nations, Red China and North Korea should participate in a political conference. However, it did not rule out discussion of the question of admitting neutrals during a preliminary meeting to arrange details of the political conference.

Irrigation Controversy Up to Crosby

By JACK HART
Journal Farm Writer

Controversy over a proposed irrigation project in the Ainsworth area appears to have been dumped into Gov. Robert Crosby's lap.

The governor said that as soon as an official report is submitted on the proposal he will schedule a public hearing to get views from both sides—from Ainsworth people who want to bring water through a canal from the Snake River and from Cherry County ranchers who oppose bringing the canal across their land.

After reviewing the full report and hearing both sides, Gov. Crosby said he would offer his recommendations on the project. Preliminary studies of the plan have been released but the official report has not yet been received by the governor.

Members of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, which would have to approve the project if it becomes a reality, listened to both sides of the dispute at Ainsworth last week.

Rep. A. L. Miller of Nebraska's Fourth District, chairman of the committee, said after the hearing that his committee could not act on the matter "until it is considered by the governor and the differences are resolved."

An earlier report on the project was reviewed and hearings were held last December by former Gov. Val Peterson. Peterson recommended additional study and another report in an effort to iron out differences.

Crosby said he had discussed the matter on the basis of the preliminary report, with Dan Jones, chief of the state irrigation department. The governor said he would have 90 days after the official report is submitted in which to investigate the proposal.

Abduction Case on Marysville Docket

MARYSVILLE, Kan.—Judge Lewis L. McLaughlin, of the 21st Judicial District, was to hear the first of eight criminal cases on the docket, which is the heaviest in years. A total of 48 criminal and civil cases will be heard.

First to be heard will be the state's case against Bud and Billy Nelson of Garrison, Kan., on charges of abduction for the purpose of concubinage and third degree kidnapping. The charges are in connection with the disappearance nearly one year ago, of an 11-year-old girl from a Waterville, Kan., street. The girl was found four days later after an intensive search by the Kansas Bureau of Investigation and Marshall County officers.

First Methodist Pastor Is Assigned to Wichita

The Rev. Joe Riley Burns, pastor of First Methodist Church since 1950, has unexpectedly been assigned to a Wichita, Kan., church.

He will leave Lincoln shortly after Nov. 1.

The surprise assignment, announced at the final session of the Central Kansas Conference of Methodist Churches in Wichita, will be a "going home" move for the Rev. Mr. Burns, who came to Lincoln from Kansas and spent most of his life there.

The Rev. Mr. Burns leaves the First Methodist Church just after a $175,000 fund-raising campaign has been voted for construction of a new building. The church has grown by 600 members during his service here.

A native of Virginia, the Rev. Mr. Burns was graduated from Southwestern College in Winfield, Kan.

He did his ministerial graduate work at Iliff Seminary in Denver and held five pastorates before coming to Lincoln.

Among his activities while here have been serving as an officer in the Lincoln Methodist Ministers' Association and the University Place Lions Club, trustee of Bryan Memorial Hospital, and trustee of the Wesley Foundation at the University of Nebraska. He is also director of evangelism for the Lincoln District of the Nebraska Methodist conference.

Handweavers Guild Opens Workshop

A luncheon honoring Mr. and Mrs. Stanislaw Zielenksi of Fulford, Quebec, Canada, opened a four-day conference and workshop sponsored by the Handweavers Guild.

Zielenksi, internationally known textile designer, is conducting the workshop at the YWCA with the assistance of his wife, Miwa. The first of Zielenksi's eight lectures was set for 7 p.m. Monday.

The Zielenskis, natives of Poland, studied and collected native art and handicraft in most of the countries of Central Europe, and authored "Encyclopedia of Hand Weaving."

Zielenksi said there are about 100 weaving guilds in this country, with an estimated 300,000 persons having taken up the art.

The phenomenal growth of weaving in the last 20 years is a reaction against the mechanization of the modern age," he says.

Present at the luncheon, held at the Cornhusker Hotel, besides the Zielenskis were Mrs. B. A. Ismand, Lincoln guild president; Mrs. C. L. Meek, chairman of the guild's educational committee; Inez M. Cook, Cornelia Crittenden and Mrs. O. E. Wohlberg, committee members; Mrs. Charles V. Price, publicity chairman.

YOU'VE NEVER KNOWN A RIDE EXACTLY LIKE THIS!

Chances are, you've known nothing but the cradled, swaying ride of cars whose design still reflects yesterday. Then, sir, please try a Lincoln just for the new experience. A new ride awaits you that combines the cushioned prowl of a great limousine with the catlike maneuverability of a sports car.

First of all there's an exclusive feature called ball-joint front suspension. This enables you to corner with incredible ease. Coupled with Lincoln's power steering and power brakes, it gives you the ultimate in control. And you're in charge of the magnificent new 205-horsepower V-8 engine—the same engine which swept the first four places among stock cars in the Mexican Pan-American Race.

In short, the car deliberately designed for modern living is also wonderfully powered for modern driving. We're ready whenever you are to take the ride. Why not try a Lincoln tomorrow?

Gay Plans Are In the Wind

On their way to Europe for six weeks' tour of England and the Continent via chartered motor are Mr. and Mrs. Neal Hompes, Dr. J. J. Hompes, Miss Gladys Hompes, and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hanson. The six-some sails from New York on Wednesday—and expect to be back in Lincoln by Christmas.

Just back from a Chicago insurance convention are Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sick, who combined the 10-day visit into a business-pleasure one. Mr. Sick, as retiring president of the organization sponsoring the convention, was kept pretty busy—so Mrs. Sick was the one able, perhaps, to enjoy the "pleasure" part most.

Back from a week's travel and sightseeing in Colorado are the Herb Waiks and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Davies. They "hit the scenic high spots" which none of the quartet had ever seen previously, including Glenwood Springs and sections of Estes Park. Midweek they met the Adna Dobsons, who had been vacationing in Durango. The three couples made the trip home together.

Dr. and Mrs. R. O. Hummel have returned from a three-week trip, on which they visited their son, Paul A. Hummel, and Mrs. Hummel in South Bend, Ind., and stopped on the way home to visit the doctor's mother, Mrs. C. L. Hummel, in St. Louis. Their fall holiday included a motor trip in the Ozarks.

The days and dates are spinning along at a pretty rapid pace for Miss Adele Coryell, whose engagement to Donald Hall of Kansas City was recently announced—and who has chosen Nov. 28 as her wedding day. Miss Coryell, and Miss Sondra Lotman, who will wed Richard E. Rosenthal of Dallas, Tex., in late autumn, shared honors at a supper party, with Miss Mary Margaret Loomis as hostess.

Mrs. Robert Stephens, her daughter, Barbara, and Mrs. Arthur Whitworth and her daughter, Marian, were hostesses at a party honoring Miss Coryell—this time it was a Sunday morning breakfast. The bride-elect was presented with a gift.

The calendars of the popular brides-to-be are filled with "tentative" dates—depending on arrival of out-of-towners...

however, a few are on the "for sure" list.

Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Guenzel will be dinner hosts complementing Miss Coryell and Miss Loomis. Guests will include the members of the families.

And then Sunday Miss Coryell, Miss Lotman and Miss Loomis will be tri-honorees at an 11 a.m. coffee for which Mrs. Dan Lilly of Kansas City, Mo., (Mittie Moyle, and Mrs. Hugh Williams (Mary Jean Neely) will be co-hostesses. The party is at the home of Mrs. Williams' parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. Marshall Neely.

Strike Ordered In Guiana British Move Gains Support

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—Ousted leftist cabinet ministers in Britain's South American colony launched a general strike and anti-British boycott but the Pan-American Day Holiday delayed any effects.

Fired Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan said his People's Progressive Party had called the walkout and cold-shoulder treatment "because our country has been invaded by foreign troops and our democratic rights have been taken away."

British rushed 600 Royal Welsh fusiliers here from Jamaica last week and kicked out Jagan and the five other PPP cabinet ministers, charging they were plotting to bring the 83,000-square mile colony of 438,000 persons under domination of Communism linked with Russia.

The Privy Council in London also suspended the constitution granted the colony five months earlier and gave Colonial Governor Sir Alfred Savage wide emergency powers.

The surprise move astonished the colony but was carried out without disorder. The U.S. government emphatically approved the British action.

It also won support from the strong-man leader of Jamaica's laborers—Prime Minister William Alexander Bustamante.

Bustamante, whose voice is influential throughout the Indies, said in Kingston the Guiana leaders could expect no sympathy from the free-thinking world. However, if they had been fighting for self-rule "within the democratic nations," Bustamante declared, "I would have paralyzed the entire country (Jamaica) to help Guiana."

Bull Flown From Eire for Seward Man

SHANNON, Ireland (AP)—Eaton Drummer, prize 18-month-old Hereford bull, was flown to New York for his purchaser, T. H. Wake of Seward, Neb.

The bull, bred by O. S. Hellyer of Hereford, is valued at $11,000. Wake, Seward cattle breeder, said he purchased the animal while on a trip to Ireland last spring.

The bull will be held in quarantine in New Jersey for 30 days before being shipped to Nebraska, Wake said. He said he arranged to have the animal flown to this country since other shipping facilities were not available until after the first of the year.

French Farmers Rebel

PARIS (AP)—Thousands of rebellious farmers barricaded roads in central France to protest falling farm prices in the first major unrest among French peasants since the revolution of 1789.

The age-old call of French rebels, "to the barricades," was signaled by church bells in about 10 rural departments at dawn. Peasants rolled out barrels, logs, wagon tongues, tractors and other farm equipment to block highways.

Five Convicted of Communist Conspiracy Planning Appeals

SEATTLE (AP)—Defense attorneys laid plans for an appeal for five persons convicted of conspiracy to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the government.

A federal court jury found the five guilty after one of the longest criminal trials in Pacific Northwest history.

The sixth defendant, Labor Leader Karly Larsen, was acquitted by the six men and six women jurors.

SCHEDULED TO BE SENTENCED Friday by Federal Judge William Lindberg for violation of the Smith Act of 1940 were:

Henry Huff, state chairman of the Communist party.

Terry Pettus, northwest editor of the Communist Daily Peoples' World and a member of the Smith Act of 1940 were:

trial began April 15, with seven defendants. But on Aug. 2, two days before he was scheduled to take the standard for cross-examination, William Pennock, president of the Washington Pension Union, was found dead in his Seattle home.

Pennock and the other six were taken into custody on Sept. 17, 1952, when the Federal Bureau of Investigation arrested 11 persons it termed "second string Communist leaders" in Detroit, St. Louis and Seattle.

British Duke's Body Found In Underbrush

TAVISTOCK, England (AP)—The gunshot-blinded body of the missing Duke of Bedford was found in tangled undergrowth on his vast Devonshire estate.

A police spokesman said nothing indicated that the death was "anything but an accident."

The 64-year-old duke, one of England's wealthiest men, went into the woods Friday. It was believed he was hunting a hawk that had been bothering his collection of tame parakeets. After he failed to return, 200 Marines and policemen combed the wilds of his 12,000-acre estate.

The Duke's outspoken political views and pacifism brought him wide publicity, especially his opposition to Britain's fight against Germany in World War II. Conducting what amounted to a one-man political party, he expressed his views in the thousands of pamphlets he mailed out.

The Bedford family fortune, once estimated at 5 million pounds, ($14 million) came from great land holdings and property in the center of London. The Duke's titles go to his elder son, the 36-year-old Marquess of Tavistock, who has been living in South Africa.

The former wife of the Marquess died from an overdose of sleeping tablets in 1945. The Duke's 71-year-old mother vanished in a solo flight over the North Sea in 1937.

Also surviving the Duke are his wife, whom he married in 1914, another son and a daughter.

Nickel Designer Dies

WESTPORT, Conn. (AP)—Sculptor James Fraser, who designed the "buffalo nickel" and several widely-known statues, died Sunday. He was 78.

Most-liked low-priced car

... among people who want more for their money when they buy... and more money when they sell!

There's a big reason why more folks are buying more Fords than ever before. No other low-priced car offers so many of the things people want and need for today's driving. In fact, to get such "Worth More" Ford features as a V-8 engine, completely automatic transmission and fine-car power steering in any other car, you'd have to step well up from the low-price field.

Of course, Ford owners will discover (if they haven't already) that Ford's worth more when they sell it, too. Surveys of used car prices show year-old Fords returning a higher proportion of their original cost than any other car.

because it's most like high-priced cars

...more and more people are considering Ford as the one fine car in the low-price field!

It's hard to believe that a car which is built like the finest still sells in the low-price field. Yet a Ford with its hulltight Crestmark body, its Full-Circle Visibility (most in its field), its new fine car ride and roomy luggage locker (roomiest in its field) delivers at a figure that keeps it right down in its price class.

Ford's the only low-priced car which offers you a choice of a completely automatic transmission (Fordomatic), Overdrive or Conventional Drive.

Ford Master-Guide, available on all V-8 models, makes turning up to 75% easier, retains the natural feel of the wheel on the straightaway.

See... Value Check... Test Drive the Ford of your choice at your Ford Dealer's. Find out why Ford is America's "Worth More" car.

Ford's 110-h.p. V-8 is the same type of engine now powering America's finest (and costliest) cars. And Ford's Mileage Maker Six is the most modern Six in the industry.
